MetaTagDummy! is a tool to add keywords and descriptions to web pages to make them better search engine results. I've already started using it in my own site, and I'm pleased so far. Check out these statistics on my page, based on only the keywords I chose to display for my own page. Not only did these keywords help me rank on the first page of the major search engines (Google, MSN, Yahoo), but they now have added to my traffic, and I'm guessing I'll increase it even more! Thanks for watching!  Setup and Import of Tags  Hi everyone, I just put up a new site on Yahoogroups, and I wanted to share a few techniques for setting up and importing tags. 2edc1e01e8

MetaTagDummy! is a keyword grabbing tool for your web pages. It allows you to grab up to the top 10 keywords used by the search engines for any given keyword. Then you can use those keywords in your page's description or keywords tags. The program helps you to find "long tail" keywords for your web pages, and save these keywords for use in future pages or projects. You can make your own lists of keywords, and grab them for use in your own web pages. You can filter the results by the keywords used in the main body of the page. You can filter the results by the keywords used in the title tag. MetaTagDummy! allows you to copy and paste any keyword from the search results, and it allows you to save them to a text file, so you can work on them later on. There are many more features, including the ability to add some meta tags to your page, including a long description. MetaTagDummy! creates or modifies the keywords tag and description tag, saves them in your own page, and you're then ready to publish your page on the web, and submit to the search engines.
